

They Don't Want To Cruise Your Type: Gay Men of Color and the Racial Politics of Exclusion

By: Chong-suk Han

Discrimination within discrimination was an unfortunate theme prevalent throughout this article by Han. I found it intriguing, yet disturbing to read that the gay community often embraced old fashioned ideals of what it meant to be a true gay man. To be a true gay man meant being white, educated, and wealthy. Television and movies make it clear the type of gay man they want portrayed and unfortunately gay men of color tend to be underrepresented or left out entirely.
